Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Friday 26 Nov 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Very strong and disruptive winds with outbreaks of rain.

This Evening and Tonight:
Storm Arwen brings strengthening winds, with severe gales along coasts and over high ground overnight. A band of rain spreads southwards through the night, falling as snow over high ground and potentially sleet for lower levels. Widely frosty. Minimum temperature -1 deg C (30 deg F).

Saturday:
Morning showers clearing east of the Pennines to leave a drier afternoon with some sunny spells. Feeling cold owing to significant wind chill in strong and gusty northerly winds. Maximum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Frosty start to Sunday but dry with much lighter winds and sunny intervals. Turning cloudier and less cold through Monday and into Tuesday with outbreaks of light rain at times.
